

PICA PRESENTS

A SLICE OF LIGHT

HELLEN SKY & COLLABORATORS

Image: T J Bateson

A Slice of Light reveals the challenges and possibilities that digital interactive performance offers to the performer, composer and designers exploring the audience's reception of non-linear interactive digital performance.

Garth Paine (UWS), Brandon Hur (Melbourne), Paul Bourke (UWA) and Hellen Sky will adapt audiovisual environments to the architecture of PICA. Part installation, part performance and part lecture, Sky and her collaborators invite you to take a peek into the processes involved in the design and performance of their ongoing interactive hybrid work.

A Slice of Light illuminates the inner workings of designing and embodying the human computer system developed for interactive performance/installation The Darker Edge of Night. Bio data from brain waves, muscles and breath, generate evocative sound worlds in real time and live camera feeds transform the body into virtual scapes projected onto surfaces inside PICA.
